

Upper Ohio Valley Historical Review

The Upper Ohio Valley Historical Review was first published in October 1968. Though its first issues were intermittent, it has become a treasured publication and valuable tool for historians studying our geographic area. In its forty-two years of publication there have been over one-hundred authors who wrote more than one-hundred and fifty articles. That is quite a contribution in documenting our local history!

Wheeling National Heritage Area would like to continue the tradition first started by the Wheeling Area Historical Society in 1968, through editing and publishing the Review --- the only one of its kind in the Northern panhandle of West Virginia that is dedicated solely to local history topics. We hope to encourage local history efforts by bringing these stories to a larger audience.

Your subscription will fund the research, editing and publication of this valuable local history resource!
